• Overview of the state’s hiring process
• Resources available to you
PREMIER EMPLOYER

- Largest employer in California
- Over 150 agencies and state departments
- Multiple geographical locations
- Great salary and benefit packages
- Vast career opportunities
- Stability
HOW TO GET STARTED

• The state’s hiring process is a merit based system conducted in three steps
• First search for career opportunities
• Second take and pass an assessment
• Third complete an application template, apply for open positions and participate in a hiring interview
KEY POINTS TO STATE SERVICE

• 3 Ranks
• Apply for vacancies once you have received a passing score
• Placement on an eligibility list does not guarantee job appointment
AUDIENCE BASED NAVIGATION

To assist job seekers in their search, we have grouped our approximately 3,500 job classifications into the 22 major occupational groups listed below. These 22 groups, or job families, were developed by the federal government as a way to standardize the terminology to describe work across the nation – both in government and the private sector – based on similarities of the work performed, and sometimes on the skills, education, and training needed to perform the work. Click on a job group below for examples of the types of jobs in that category.
