1.5 Use Filters

Filters let you cut down the catalog to just those courses you want to see. You can combine filters and searching to help you find courses quickly.

You can use these filters:

- Start and end dates
- Course category
• Delivery method
• Location

Use the “Advanced Filters” link below the Search box:

To filter the Course Catalog, set the filter criteria as explained in the next few sections.

1.5.1 Filter by date

To filter a course by date, select “All Dates,” then select the day, month and year. Choose the start and end dates:
1.5.2 Filter by category

To see classes related by subject, filter by category. Use the “Categories” filter on the left side of the screen:

You’ll see the list of available categories. Select one and your Course Catalog will show only courses in that category:

1.5.3 Filter by delivery method

You can filter courses by delivery methods:

- Online
- Instructor-led training
- Hybrid

To filter your Course Catalog by delivery method, use the “All Delivery Methods” menu item:
Choose a delivery method, and your Course Catalog will show only those courses that are delivered in that mode.

1.5.4 Filter by location

To filter your Course Catalog by location, change the menu item from “All Locations” to the location you want. In this illustration, the filter acts to only show courses in Sacramento:

1.5.5 Combine filters

You can also combine filters to find specific courses that meet your criteria. For example, you can filter for:

- Public Speaking courses,
- delivered online,
- that take place between January 1, 2020 and June 30, 2020.
1.6 Troubleshoot the Course Catalog

A couple of things can prevent you from seeing courses that you might expect to see in the Course Catalog.

1.6.1 Not all courses are for everybody

You might notice that your colleagues have registered for a course, but you can’t find it in the Course Catalog.

CalHR holds some types of training only for certain learners. For example, a manager would see certain training opportunities for managers, but an analyst would not.

If you can’t see a course that some of your colleagues are taking, and you are interested in learning more, contact your supervisor, manager, or training officer to discuss your learning opportunities.

1.6.2 Filters still active

The filters on the Course Catalog might inadvertently hide courses that are available to you. Use “Advanced Filters” and clear all the filtering options. Then try to search for the course one more time.
